Dear Princess

(your name)

Welcome to my special magazine.
Follow my steps to becoming a princess, just like me!

And there's your own official Tiara certificate to show what a special princess you are!

Love,

Euroa

Now come with me and discover my world...

Princess of the Forest

Before I knew I was a princess, I lived in a lovely cottage in the forest with my Fairy Godmothers. I'd like you to meet them, Prince Phillip, and my forest friends.

My Fairy Godmothers

looked after me until my sixteenth birthday. They protected me from Maleficent, the evil fairy. When I was born, each Fairy Godmother gave me a special gift.

Fauna

gave me the gift of song. Whenever I am out in the forest, I love to sing with the birds.

Flora

gave me the gift of beauty. It was Flora's idea to take me into the forest where I would be safe from harm.

Merryweather

gave me a special gift. She softened the evil spell that Maleficent put on me so that I would remain sleeping until my true love kissed me to break the spell.

Prince Phillip is my true love. It was his kiss that broke the evil spell. He was very brave and defeated Maleficent so that we could live happily ever after.

The Forest Animals

are my friends. The owls, the squirrels, the rabbits and birds all know my secrets and dreams. We play, sing, and dance around in the beautiful forest.

Be a Sleeping Beauty

I'll show you how to look like a true Sleeping Beauty.
We'll start by decorating a nightgown and slippers.

Nightgown

1

You will need a nightgown to decorate.

2

With fabric paints or pens, draw a tiara on the front of the nightgown.

3

Finally, glue or sew some fake fur around the top. Now you are ready to be a Sleeping Beauty, too!

Princess Tip!
You can even write your name on your nightgown using the fabric pen!

Slippers

Find an old pair of slippers and glue some fake fur on the top of each one.

Carefully glue heart motifs onto the fur.

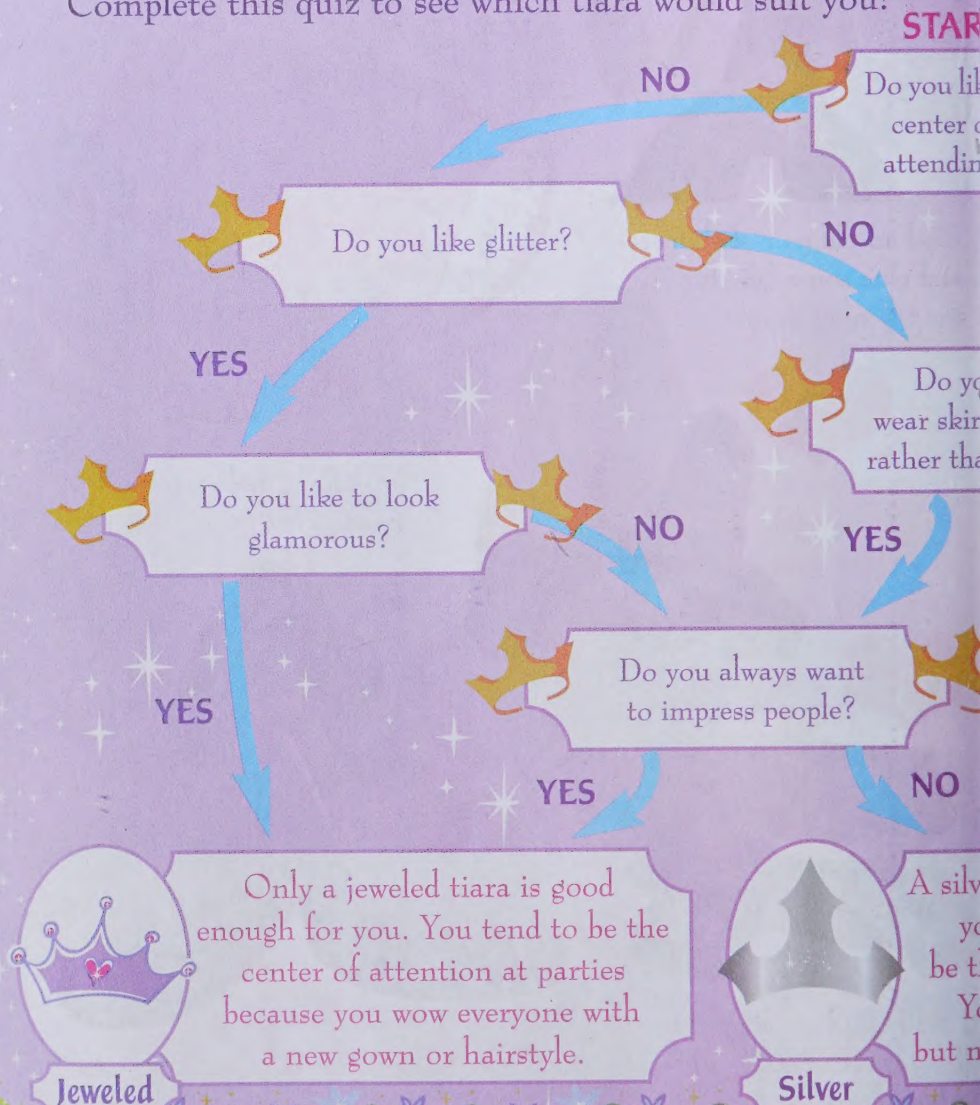

Finally, add some pretty designs on the sides with a fabric pen.

You'll look lovely at your next sleepover party!

Princess Tiaras

I love to wear tiaras. They make me feel very special. Why don't you help me design and decorate some new ones?

Design a tiara here.

Add your own designs to my tiara and color it in.

Now decorate a tiara of your own using glitter and sequins for extra sparkle!

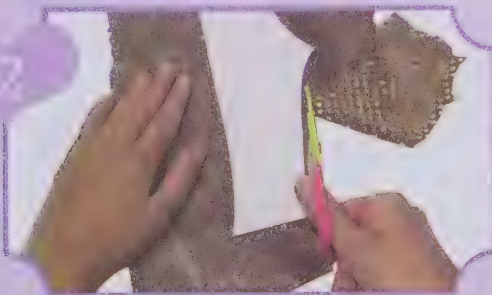

Aurora's Accessories

You'll glitter like gold when you make and wear these accessories!

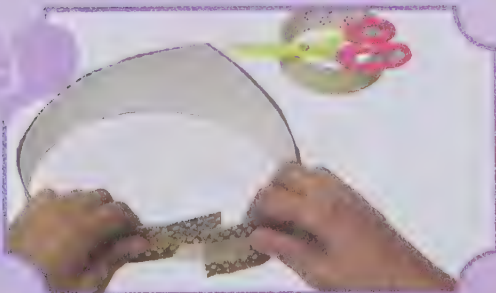

Twinkling Tiara

Cut out a tiara shape from some thin cardstock. Be sure it is large enough to fit around your head.

Put glue on one side of the tiara and place it on a piece of gold fabric. When the glue has dried, cut the fabric away from the tiara.

Finally, tape the tiara at the back and carefully place it on top of your head.

Gold Necklace

To make a gold necklace, cut out a necklace shape from thin cardstock. Then do the same as you did for the tiara.

Princess Tip!
If you don't have any fabric, you can decorate your tiara and necklace with gold glitter!

The Woodland Tiara

I'll show you how to be kind and caring.

To start, enjoy reading this story.

One fine day, Aurora was walking through the forest

on her way to visit her animal friends.

Aurora liked nothing better than to give her friends presents, and that day was no exception. She had some carrots for the rabbits, because you know how much rabbits like to munch on carrots. She had some nuts for the squirrels, because you know how much squirrels love to gather nuts. She had some delicious berries for the birds and the deer, since you know how much they like berries.

The animals were so happy with their gifts that they ate them

They all agreed that it would be nice to give Aurora a present, too, to thank her for being so kind and caring towards them.

"Whenever the forest is full of garbage dropped by litterbugs," the rabbits said, "Aurora always works very hard to clean it all up."

"And Aurora always nurses the younger animals whenever they are sick," the birds sang.

The forest animals decided they wanted to make Aurora a very special thank-you gift, one that would last forever.

"Let's make a forest tiara made from twigs and bound with pretty flowers," said the squirrels.

"Good idea," said Owl, "but the only problem is we don't know what size to make it."

The forest animals realized they would have to somehow secretly measure Aurora's tiara size to find out!

The birds tried first, by hovering around Aurora in a circle, and touching their wings together.

"Thank you, dear birds," Aurora said, thinking they were trying to fan her with their wings, "but I'm quite cool enough already."

Next, two squirrels jumped onto Aurora's shoulders, and tried to wrap their tails around her head. They thought they could measure Aurora's tiara size that way.

Unfortunately, Aurora was very ticklish and the squirrels' fur made her laugh so much, the squirrels couldn't hold on a moment longer.

Finally, one of the rabbits jumped up onto Aurora's lap. The little rabbit managed to wrap his big floppy ears all the way around Aurora's head, and was able to measure how big the tiara needed to be.

By the next day, the forest tiara had been made.

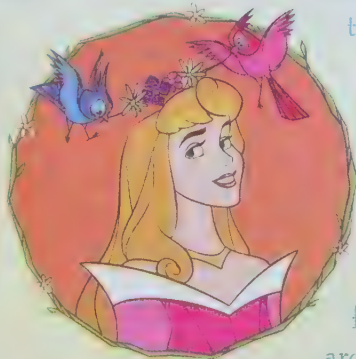

A baby deer led Aurora through the forest to a clearing, where the fairies and all her animal friends were waiting to watch the birds present Aurora with their gift.

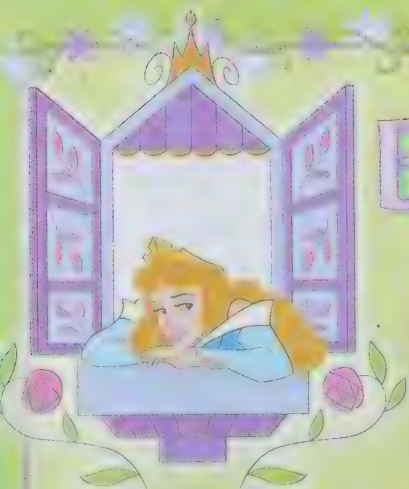

"Thank you so much!" Aurora said delightedly, as the birds lowered the tiara onto her head.

As a final gift, the fairies waved their magic wands over the tiara, to make sure that the flowers would always look and stay as fresh as the day they were picked!

And what a beautiful tiara it was, too!

The End

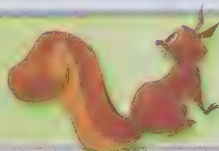

Be Kind Like a Princess

A true princess is very kind and caring towards her friends and family. Here are some tips on how to show you care!

1

Be a good listener. It's great to share your wishes and dreams with your friends, but be sure to let them talk about theirs.

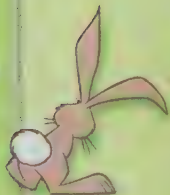

2

Doing nice things for people gives you a wonderful feeling. Your friends and family will appreciate feeling special, too.

3

Spend time doing fun things with your friends and family. There isn't a better gift you can give to them than time to show you care!

It's also very important to be kind to animals. They can be your best friends, too! Here are some nice things you can do for animals you may have in your yard.

Birds

If you listen closely to birds, they sound as if they are singing. Hang a birdfeeder with seeds in your yard and listen to the birds chirp with cheer!

Squirrels

I love watching squirrels collecting food. If you find any nuts in your yard, put them near a tree where the squirrels can see them.

Rabbits

Rabbits make wonderful pets. If you keep one in your yard, be sure it has a warm bed in a sheltered space.

How many flowers has the rabbit picked for me?

Forest Friends

I love spending time with my friends in the forest.
Can you spot five differences in the lower picture?

Answer:

There is one more bird, the rabbit's tail is missing from the chimney, a window is a different color, the smoke is missing.

Beautiful Basket

Make this woodland basket for your special pieces of jewelry.

Fold a piece of colored paper in half. Cut lots of slits up towards the center, along each of the longer sides.

Unfold the paper, gather the ends of the slits and staple them together. You should now have a bowl shape.

Weave a long strip of colored paper through the slits underneath your basket. Then make a handle with the rest of the strip and staple it in place.

Finally, add some pretty flowers and other decorations.

Nature File

I keep a file about the animals I meet in the forest. Why don't you make one to write about the creatures you see?

To make a file, use some pretty, thick paper for your covers. Add some plain paper for the insides. Punch two holes through the paper on one side, and tie some yarn through the holes.

Here are some things to write down in your file.

- 1 List all of the animals you see each season.
- 2 Write down what they were doing.
- 3 What noises did they make?
- 4 What did they look like?

Creature Comforts

I care for all animals, big and small. Draw some more to make me happy, then color in the picture.

Fairy Decorations

Discover how to host a sleepover party.
First, read the story for decoration ideas!

One day, not long after Aurora had left the fairies' cottage and gone to live in the palace, she started feeling a little homesick.

"It's not that I'm unhappy living here in the palace," she sighed to herself, "but I do miss my Fairy Godmothers and all the forest animals."

Just at that moment, the fairies flew into Aurora's bedroom. It was as if they knew their dear friend was missing them.

"Hello, Aurora," they all sang.

"It is so nice to see you, Fairy Godmothers," Aurora replied.

"I've missed you so much."

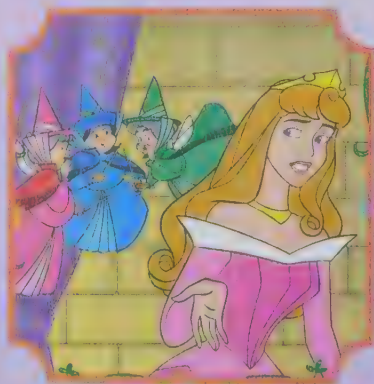

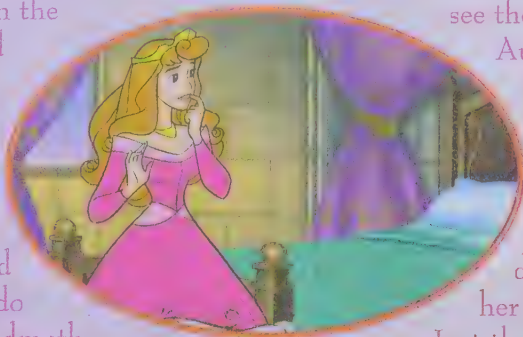

The fairies were worried to see their beloved Aurora feeling so homesick.

"How can we make her feel happier?" Fauna asked. "I don't like seeing her like this."

Just then, Flora had the most wonderful idea.

"Why don't we redecorate Aurora's room at the palace to look just like our cottage?" she whispered. "Then she will feel as though she has never left us!"

Fauna and Merryweather thought it was an excellent idea.

The next day, the fairies waited outside the palace until Aurora had come for her morning walk. Then, with the permission of the King and Prince Phillip, they entered Aurora's room and got to work. They painted and they pasted. They cut and they hung.

Soon, Aurora's room was beginning to look just like their own little cottage. They all stood around and admired their work.

"There's something missing," Merryweather said, "but I can't

"There's something missing," Merryweather said. "I need one of the fairies to help me figure it out."

All of a sudden, they found Aurora's room in a different way. They were looking at the room and they still had the room to decorate. They were looking at the room and they still had the room to decorate. They were looking at the room and they still had the room to decorate.

"Indeed! The room still has a pretty touch!" said Flimsy and Merryweather together.

knowing how much Aurora liked it. When Aurora entered her bedroom and saw what the fairies had done for her, she smiled to delight.

"It's just like your cottage in the forest," she said to them. "Thank you so much! Now I really do feel at home."

The End

Party Goodies

A sleepover party is the best way to get your friends together for a night of fun. Here are some ideas on how to have a party of your own. Make sure you get some sleep, though!

Movie Badges

Make these tiara name badges for all of your guests.

Snacks

No party is complete without some princess snacks. Bake some cookies in the shape of Aurora's forest animal friends. Or, you could decorate the cookies with flowers and other pretty patterns.

Hot Chocolate

Hot chocolate is always a favorite drink at bedtime. Add some marshmallows for a real princess treat!

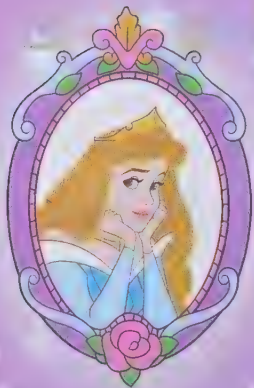

Popcorn

These cones for popcorn are a nice touch. Make the cones by rolling colored paper and taping them closed. Fill one with popcorn for each friend!

Princess Tip!

You can decorate the cones with glitter and fake fur for an extra special touch!

Party Fun

Now that you've made the treats, here are some ideas for things to do. Don't start the fun until everyone has their nightgowns on, though!

Pillow Fight

Having a pillow fight is always fun!

Hairstyles

Take turns doing each other's hair in pretty hairstyles.

Crown the Princess

You could give a special tiara to each of your friends.

Story Time

You could act out stories, using your stuffed animals.
